

“Er—uh—I wonder if you remember that little financial conversation we had at the Christmas party, Mr. Gilson.”

"We'll soon know whether it's a good idea or not."

"I'll never forget that November alert. I walked right into the Sherry-Netherland."

“Ladies, do you have enough leisure to do all the things you really want to do?”

"It's quite late, dear, and I'm tired. Would you mind starting your summation?"

"I'm just plain stuck for a rhyme."

"My old man could have licked your old man any day of the week."

"If this doesn't break the ice, sir, I'd say you're barking up the wrong tree."

"Let's get out of here while the getting's good."

"Tell me, Louis, do you like your warden?"

1952

Claude Smith (1/12/1952)

Return to Main Menu ►

“What makes you think being busy would make me happy?”

"Here's what I was telling you about. It seems to be sort of a loose end."

“But, darling, lots of boys wear their sisters’ outgrown clothes.”

1952

1

2

"All right, Haskell—sell me."

"You mean I'm a grandfather!"

“Now you guys all know what you’re supposed to do and when, so let’s cream this up. This is one caper I don’t want any slipup on. The Missus has already spent my cut.”

"I heard your radio jingle and would like further details."

"Nothing much, Agnes. What's new with you?"

“Wonderful!”

“Now, the first thing on the program is to get you in shape for a thorough checkup.”

"And these are tape recordings of all his serenades."

1

2

3

"I hate to mention it, but you've got his coat buttoned the wrong way."

"If you got sent to Alaska, do you suppose they'd give you a fur coat?"

“...one hundred and forty-nine, one hundred and fifty. Thank you very much. Now, for ten dollars more, would you care to know what’s wrong with it?”

DREAMS OF GLORY
Breaking the Bank

William Steig (1/26/1952)

Return to Main Menu ►

"I'd like to see something in the way of a bowling-ball case."

"I see a tall, handsome young man, cultivated and witty as well as extremely wealthy . . . But —oh dear—he doesn't seem to be attracted to you at all."

"Disregard it."

"James J. Harris, attorney at law. My card, sir, in case you're overtaken."

"Name another woman who'd live in anything with seventy-five thousand miles on it."

"I hate everybody, regardless of race, creed, or place of national origin!"

“Vitamin B complex! Why, you sent Mrs. Fogle on a trip to Bermuda, and she wasn’t a bit more run down than I am.”

"I don't believe you're deaf; I never believed it!"

"Dad, can I have the carpet tonight?"

“Well, I’m not striking it from my record!”

"When did they elect you President?"

“We ought never to lose sight of the fact that the virtue of cleanliness is next only to that of godliness itself. And speaking of cleanliness, I hope that, if you’re not already one of the millions of satisfied users of Brite, you’ll try this new, all-purpose . . .”

“Boy, you’re not kidding! My wife goes to the grocery store and buys a pound of coffee, some butter, eggs, bread, and a few canned goods, and by God if it doesn’t kill a five-dollar bill!”

"We're pleased with the way you're taking hold here, Nesbitt, and you'll be glad to know that as of the first of the month we're giving you a desk nearer the windows."

"Please!" There happens to be a lady present."

"And I don't want to hear another peep out of you!"

“If you want to go a little higher, here’s one that also gets the measles.”

"I'm stick and tired of having my evenings ruined. Why can't you ever commit one of those daring daylight robberies I keep reading about?"

“Now, don’t go making a fool of yourself.”

“For God’s sake, Fred, at least turn off the sound!”

"Looks like another feather in Darwin's cap."

"Now I see my mistake! I carried forward twenty-five hundred instead of two hundred and fifty."

“Well, to be honest with you, dear, I do think the fur coat makes you look heavier.”

“One thing I’ll say for him—he’s always been a good provider.”

DREAMS OF GLORY

*"I have reached Mars, and planted our nation's flag.
Jones, Callahan, and Bergman died en route. I am alone . . ."*

“Girls go for a fellow with money. For quick cash, men, visit the nearest office of the Friendly Loan Company.”

“And then I made my big mistake. I put everything in my wife’s name.”

"There's probably more to it than meets the eye."

"I see your ego turning all the others down until you meet this one. Then there's a period of doubt and uncertainty after you suddenly realize that his attraction is based on his resemblance to your father-image. It's only when he's proved his appeal to you, in ways you know have nothing to do with the ideal that's dominated you in this old family pattern, that the conflict is resolved and you finally have a reintegrated feeling of security with him."

1

2

3

4

5

6

“All A’s. How come? Has he been neglecting his paper route again?”

"Here's an angle, maybe. Let's find out what doctors drink."

“While you’re at it, ask her what the middle-class Parisian housewife whose husband can barely keep his head above water is wearing this year.”

"If you want to know more about him, just take a look in the driveway."

"Immediate seating at the Lyric for 'Second Love,' starring Robert Taylor and Greer Garson."

Robert J. Day (3/1/1952)

Return to Main Menu ►

“I was just wondering—do you suppose the tide’s in or out?”

"Just the kind of day that makes you feel good to be alive!"

"Six more strokes, lady, and then I'll have to ask for your decision."

“How long before you usually start pestering people?”

"They have a wonderful author-editor relationship."

“Did you ever stop to think maybe you’re in the wrong line of work?”

"I'll have the Blue Plate Special, but with mashed potatoes instead of French-fried, Lima beans instead of peas, and head lettuce with mayonnaise instead of the coleslaw."

"Yackety, yackety, yackety!"

"It's that streak of Oscar Levant wit."

“Well, isn’t it better than not knowing where all the money goes?”

“ . . . Now, it should be known that all this time the princess had been watching the combat from the roof of the palace: and as her fear and anxiety for the prince had in the first instance been great, so now was she overjoyed when she saw him rise superior to the dangers which had threatened him. But as soon as she heard her father’s words she became filled with fresh fear lest she and her lover were now to be parted: so as the prince came speeding by on his magic horse she stretched up her arms to him, crying, ‘O master of the flying bird, leave me not desolate.’ . . . ”

"Now, if we only had a bottle of good white wine."

"Last night I dreamed they asked me to form a new French Cabinet."

“Parker, if you ever expect to get ahead here, you’ve got to assert yourself more. Take the case in hand. Just because your wife nags you to ask for a raise doesn’t mean you’ve got to come in and ask for one.”

"Now, I'm really surprised at you!"

"What I don't like about chess is the way you have to sit and pretend to think!"

“If we were millionaires and I was having an affair with our chauffeur, would you love me enough to shoot us?”

DREAMS OF GLORY
Getting the Serum Through

William Steig (3/15/1952)

Return to Main Menu ►

"We don't want one that's profane, but we wouldn't mind one that's a little salty."

"Now, listen. When I get up and start telling the jury what a good father and a fine citizen you are, for God's sake don't sit there openmouthed."

"When I see something I want, Mrs. Westover, I take it."

"The makers of Siegfried beer take you to Madison Square Garden for the windup between Mike Mulvane and Rocky Rinaldo."

"While the boys are getting set, why don't you get set—with a bottle of Siegfried . . ."

"... rich as velvet, smooth as silk . . ."

"Bell for the third coming up. Just time to latch onto another bottle of that beer no other beer can lay a glove on."

"Well, that round was in doubt. But there's no doubt about the . . ."

"... best beer for your money . . ."

"... and while you're out there, make sure you've got enough of those blond beauties on ice."

"... looks like Mulvane's losing his head. You keep one on that glass of yours."

"There's the bell ending the ninth. Time for a breather, and that means . . ."

"... the lager that likes you."

"Don't forget our six-can Handipak, and the money-saving case of twenty-four . . ."

"It's Rinaldo, folks, by a decision! And here's a winner by a decision, too—Siegfried beer, First for Thirst!!"

"It's for me."

"I'll call you."

"Hold it, Benson, hold it! You've been shifted to Flemish Renaissance!"

“Look at it this way, fellows. If I stay any longer, I’m liable to win more of your dough.”

“Would it be all right if I let a couple of inches go until next time?”

"You just wait until the Board of Regents gets a channel. Then they'll be begging us to watch."

“Good! Then I’m to tell mine it was your fault and you’re to tell yours it was my fault.”

"Maybe you should play easy to get!"

"I'm sorry, old man, but it's 'La Bohème' tonight."

"And remember, ladies, Brite flakes get your clothes even whiter than whiter than white."

"What's the meaning of this?"

“They’re just cutting off their nose to spite their face. Now they won’t get any income tax out of me for a while.”

“How’s this for an angle? One evening this guy drops into a movie and finds himself sitting next to a lovely girl. She’s a knockout. Right then and there it hits him what he’s been missing staying home glued to television night after night.”

"Gold!"

DREAMS OF GLORY
The Case Is as Good as Solved

William Steig (4/5/1952)

Return to Main Menu ►

“Well, if you want to know, I just don’t like being taken for granted.”

"I'd like to be married to that bum for just about ten minutes."

"I see you as very eager to meet a tall, dark, handsome man."

“Oh, they’re nice as pie as long as you show a balance, but just get a couple of cents overdrawn and they show their true colors.”

“You just swallowed his Outer-Space Cadet ring, that’s what.”

“After all appeals to reason, law, and logic have been considered, ladies and gentlemen of the jury, there remains one simple, basic fact that I am sure will enable you to understand my client’s motivation. You know how hard it is to make ends meet.”

"All right, now, a little smile."

"It's wonderful! It keeps you guessing right up to the end, when—well, you'd never believe it, but who should turn out to be the murderer but the detective himself! You'll love it."

"You're not leaving this house until you've dried the dishes!"

“Aw, cut it out, Eunice. Save that stuff for your customers.”

"The sponsors of this program have experimentally eliminated all commercials. If you want to indicate that you endorse this policy, go immediately to your nearest druggist and buy a tube of Dentglo toothpaste."

“You’re so right. You’d think they’d have more sense, it being their business and all. Let me tell you about the last time I shopped there. And believe me it was the last time. They ran this big ad in the paper practically giving everything away free, according to them, so I raced down there. Well, you should have seen . . .”

"No, damn it, I want to close one!"

"No, no! As as in As." .

“Joe, don’t you think this year we ought to come to some sort of understanding?”

“He’s a born leader.”

"Why, you swine!"

"Carmichael, I'd like a word with you."

“Don’t worry about it. They’re only meant for the men.”

“Because he was naughty, dear.”

"You're absolutely right, sir. And now that you've won a free trip to Chile, would you care to try for return passage?"

"Now that General Eisenhower has resigned, I suppose you'll all move up a notch."

"It's for the swimming pool. You said 'Go ahead,' didn't you?"

"You'd better go. Here comes Father."

*"You were right, sir. It was dishwater.
The chef regrets the error."*

“Would you gentlemen care to settle your argument inside?”

"Is it all right if I just go in to get my money back?"

“Now, that’s what I mean about Agnes.”

"Of course, I don't do much running and jumping."

Robert J. Day (5/3/1952)

Return to Main Menu ►

"There we were, completely cut off, and me with one sack of flour, a case of beans, and not a single ounce of sugar."

"The trouble with you is you take yourself too damn seriously!"

"You'll thank me for this in the morning, Mr. Evers."

DREAMS OF GLORY
The Great Clairvoyant

William Steig (5/3/1952)

Return to Main Menu ►

"Helen, for the last time I beg of you, let me take you away from all this."

"In the last analysis, it was my word against the lie detector's."

“Damn it, Gregg, we’re not anthropologists—we’re paleontologists!”

"It's like the Judge said— if a President could seize Big Steel, he could seize the Busy Bee."

“There, now! You owe me four hundred billion dollars!”

"Ike."

"I can see it coming. Aid to Mars, aid to Mercury—oh, brother!"

"How should I know? Maybe it's National Optometry Week."

"Did you ever think what a wonderful world this would be if only crime did pay?"

"Do you have an all-purpose gin?"

“Put those right back! I don’t care what Wild Bill Hickok said!”

"Yes, dear."

"Who won?"

"I think you're wrong, dear. It's even better than the government's."

"I put it back on the shelf. I don't remember just where."

"Mind if I play through? My wife's having a pretty tricky operation and I'd like to get to the hospital as soon as I can."

“Well, that was in the book, only more so.”

“You’re not the Albert Einstein!”

Leonard Dove (5/24/1952)

Return to Main Menu ►

Alan Dunn (5/24/1952)

Return to Main Menu ►

“Why, Lorraine, I didn’t know you wore glasses!”

Robert J. Day (5/24/1952)

Return to Main Menu ►

“Say, I’m sort of the captain here. Why can’t I marry us?”

“It’s George, Mother, and he says he can’t get tickets to the doubleheader this afternoon. Isn’t that wonderful?”

"My wife is skeptical, too."

“Let’s not spoil it by keeping score.”

“Easy, fellows. I’m with the F.B.I.”

“Want to hear me count to five hundred by fives?”

"I'll bet there's more to that than meets the eye."

"Shouldn't those expressions be reversed?"

SMALL FRY

SANDLOT BASEBALL (1 OF 9)

Waiting for the signal

SMALL FRY

SANDLOT BASEBALL (2 OF 9)

Fancy Dan

SMALL FRY

SANDLOT BASEBALL (3 OF 9)

Circus catch

SMALL FRY

SANDLOT BASEBALL (4 OF 9)

Slugger

SMALL FRY

SANDLOT BASEBALL (5 OF 9)

Three easy outs

SMALL FRY

SANDLOT BASEBALL (6 OF 9)

Relief pitcher warming up

SMALL FRY

SANDLOT BASEBALL (7 OF 9)

"Here it is. Take a good look at it."

SMALL FRY

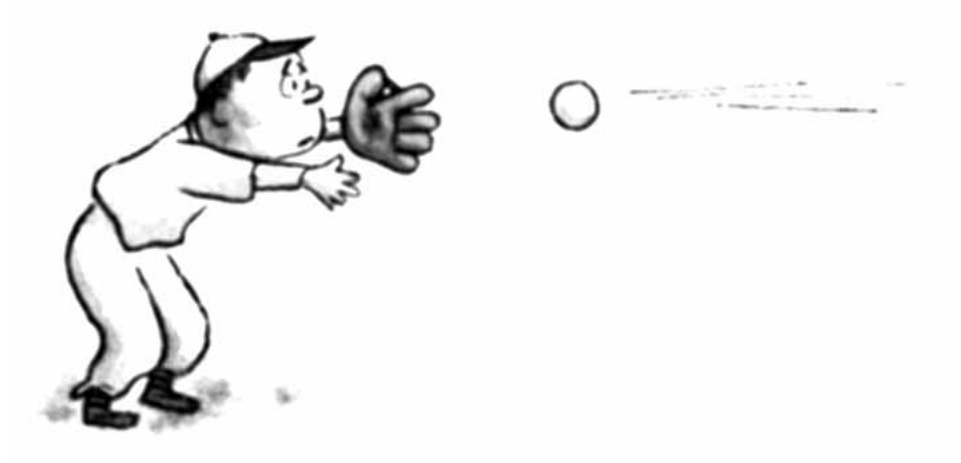

SANDLOT BASEBALL (8 OF 9)

Butterfingers

SMALL FRY

SANDLOT BASEBALL (9 OF 9)

Rookie

“Yes, sirree, as they used to say, our little songbird sure has It, folks. And speaking of It, it pays to buy Kool-Dent, the refreshing toothpaste.”

"If she won't see him, what chance do you think you've got?"

“Why, Howard! When did you go underground?”

"Say, them peonies turned out O.K., didn't they?"

“How much would it cost to have one of these fenders fixed?”

“ . . . the stock market moved irregularly lower yesterday in a day of dull trading. Rails and industrials held steady. Brazilian bonds showed a marked flurry in the final hour of trading. Municipal is sues were generally . . . ”

"They sure don't make 'em the way they used to."

"Pardon me, sir, I wonder if you'd step inside and help us settle an argument. My partner here says you'd take a 42, and I say you're a perfect 40."

“Enrich the soil with humus, which can be obtained from any nearby bog . . .”

“If you really loved me, you’d take a postgraduate course.”

"You know what's wrong with this job? Any man you're apt to meet here is already involved."

"Believe me, the A.A.A. is going to hear about this!"

"Mr. Swanson, may I present my ideas now, before my Benzedrine wears off?"

“... er—to make a long story short ...”

"I don't dare turn my boy loose until the bell rings."

"It tows nicely, doesn't it?"

"We'll have a rye-on-the-rocks, a dry Martini, and two Tom Collins without gin."

"This is one time they damn well can't tell me he's out."

"This has nothing to do with logic!"

"I can lick any man in the house."

"Dad, can I borrow the club tonight?"

“Pas un seul mot en anglais from now on, O.K.?”

DREAMS OF GLORY
The Idol of Madrid

"I got a feeler from a tobacco company on an endorsement, and I was wondering if you'd mind telling me how much you got for that cereal testimonial of yours."

“Hey! That’s not fair!”

"I feel awful about your being in here. I guess those auditors wouldn't have discovered your embezzlements if it hadn't been for me robbing the bank in the first place."

"At least you have to give him credit for trying."

"I have something to read, thanks."

"I agree with you in principle, but if we didn't have some civilians, who'd be left to toot the bill?"

"I always feel like a damn fool when I'm down to my last one."

*"Perhaps you thought he was out, too. If you did, maybe you need glasses.
Why not drop in at the Ames Optometrists for a free checkup?"*

"I thought your folks said it would just be a simple ceremony."

"It isn't just us, you'll be glad to know. According to this article, the entire middle class is slowly being squeezed to death."

"I have a good mind to buy it and give it to her all over again."

"Oh, brother, you are an uninstructed delegate!"

“Dad, you promised!”

"Would you stand by me if I turned out to be mixed up in an international spy ring shipping vital war materials to China?"

“Why, it’s Mr. Conrad! I heard he was here taking the waters.”

“Oh dear, they aren’t putting up the yoke separately!”

"That's one worry I don't have, thank God. My wife's doing time, too."

“Here we move on to a radically different type of expression—the reduction of visual reality to the essentials of color and mass, an attempt to distill plastic relationships into rhythmic absolutes and linear counterpoint.”

“Well, how far are we from the end of our rope this month?”

“Really, old man, I didn’t mean it was a bad novel. Just a little weak in spots.”

"But, gosh, Daddy likes this program, and, after all, Melvin, it only happens once every four years."

“Commander, may I have your permission to wear only one hash mark when I’m on liberty?”

*"For heaven's sake, Ed, holler something besides
'help.' People might think we're really in trouble."*

"My, it's nice and cool in here!"

"It's got three bedrooms, two baths, kitchen, living room, dining room, and a small sun porch. The asking price is five million."

1952

“If you ask me, there’s such a thing as too complete coverage.”

"Gimme a quarter and I'll go away."

"It's just no use, Miss Woods. I'm already pledged to Kefauver."

"Is it all right if we walk through?"

“Well, that about winds it up, folks. We hope you’ve enjoyed listening to our description of this exciting tournament as much as we enjoyed bringing it to you.”

“Oh, really? My wife and I used to spend summers there. Did you know Marge and Bunny Stevenson, by any chance?”

"Maybe I'm not helpful, friendly, thrifty, clean, but at least when I was a kid I showed some respect for my old man."

“Mebbe ’tis, mebbe ’tisn’t. Your name Spalding?”

“Charles, are you having trouble with your eyes lately?”

“Trouble with this stuff is nobody appreciates it till after you’re dead and gone.”

"Hello, Mom! I think I've struck oil!"

"Now, remember—act casual."

“Don’t think of it as twenty-five dollars an ounce. Think of it as twenty-five dollars for a whole lifetime of happiness and security.”

"How do you do, sir? My name is Arthur Jansen. I'm with the Unguentine people."

"I'm cancelling my appointments for the next three days, Mrs. Belden—I'm having the couch done over."

"The trouble with me is I'm always off my game."

"Pardon me, Miss, but I can't help feeling I've met you before."

“Get your red-hots, potato salad, cole slaw, and ice-cold drinks here!”

“... or perhaps you're the more conservative type.”

"Will you do me just one favor? Will you lay off that 'Do you have a minute?' business?"

"The folder said we'd be met by strolling musicians."

"It isn't often one sees a bowler these days."

“Why, isn’t that Kiki Foster? She used to pose for me.”

"I don't see why you have to get so cross. You know I came here hoping I wouldn't see anything I liked."

“Well, this settles one thing—those funny lines are canals.”

"I have minus thirty-seven dollars in my checking account."

"I don't like the looks of things. Our candidates are running ahead in every single public-opinion poll!"

"Anyway, my father can run faster than your father."

“No, this isn’t the Happy Time Café. This isn’t the happy anything.”

"You're going to shoot a hundred and fourteen, dear."

"No, you cannot have one!"

"Trouble is, Doc, I feel inferior to people I know I'm superior to."

"This is utterly ridiculous! I feel like a damn fool."

“When do they go on the road?”

“Well, another day without a cigarette. That makes fourteen years, seven months, three weeks, and four days now.”

“Here they come now, folks. The first men ever to reach the top of Mount Gaffney—with the exception, of course, of myself!”

“... and what’s more, you probably never will find an ad requesting intelligent companionship for an elderly millionaire.”

"Got away, damn it! There ought to be a law against those self-sealing tires."

“Here he comes again. Pretend you’re asleep.”

"Fred, are you awake? I just thought of a hell of a gimmick for an alibi."

"My feet hurt."

"Knock it into the poison ivy."

DREAMS OF GLORY

Captain Blood

William Steig (8/30/1952)

Return to Main Menu ►

"Is that the big one with the knob, or one of the little scoops?"

“You are hereby directed to instruct all personnel of your branch that for the time being the cheery smile is to be replaced by a look of grave sympathy.”

"I'm playing a hunch. I'm going to mix dacron, aureomycin, U-235, and chlorophyll and see what happens."

“Are you the party who advertised for a married couple?”

"I know the type. All you'd ever get out of him would be 'We can't afford it!'"

“On the other hand, they may be something atmospheric.”

"Supper's ready—I guess."

*“Well, I don’t see any point in looking any farther.
It was probably just one of those wild rumors.”*

“Try to hold on for another round or two. I think what he’s doing to you is beginning to sicken him.”

“If you’re one of those discriminating people who insist on a really cool filtered smoke, and for whom even the long cigarettes are not long enough . . .”

“Would you care for some music to read by?”

"Where are the coyotes?"

“Edna! Don’t waste the television!”

“Watch it, man! The rate of exchange isn’t that much in our favor.”

"If you ask me, I think she's trying to kill him."

“Bound to happen sometime, I suppose.”

"Hey, Dad, you should see it from here!"

1

2

3

4

5

“Oh, Edwin, not on your vacation!”

"It fits perfectly."

“He said that about my mother?”

"Here's a fine buy for a chap who likes to tinker."

“Hey, I just remembered my stretch is up in two weeks!”

“Parlez-vous français?”

"Well, it's their funeral."

"Oh, shut up!"

"Albert is ready to tackle you now, Madam."

"You've won seven thousand dollars. Would you care to try for the tax on that?"

"Notice how he never looks you in the eye?"

"Mom, may I have the phone tonight?"

“Now, remember. This is on me.”

"Talk about your unpopular decisions!"

"That explains why Hagen wasn't in on last week's break."

"I heard it first!"

"How many feet does he think we've got?"

"I used to see your expense accounts at the office, Mr. Hofstetter, but gee, I never dreamed I'd be in them."

“Hello again, all you guys and gals. While Mother is getting dinner and Dad is finishing up at the office, now’s your chance to light up a Teen. Enjoy while you can the mild, mellow, flavorful tobacco of Teens, the youthful cigarette.”

"Now, your job, Hornsby, is to get out on the street corners and make speeches—for the opposition, of course."

"And that reminds me of a very serious story."

“Hey, Mac! Which way is west?”

Robert J. Day (10/4/1952)

Return to Main Menu ►

"What we should have is a red carpet to roll out."

*"How does this strike you?
'Ziggety zeet!
Here's a treat
To make you smack your lips.
Ziggety zag!
Go buy a bag
Of Gold's Potato Chips!"*

"And the hell of it is that even after I'm dead nobody will appreciate this stuff."

"If I had to choose between a man with brains and a man with brawn, I'd pick the one with the most money."

DREAMS OF GLORY
Hypnotic Power

William Steig (10/4/1952)

Return to Main Menu ►

"We find the defendant innocent but extremely irritating."

"It's just as I suspected. The murderer is the one I suspected least."

"I should think Alice would at least be on hand to help you move."

"Know what? All there is to school is to learn something and write it down."

"Why, that's more than even we can promise them."

“O.K., then. I’ll see you tomorrow, unless something unforeseen happens.”

“... and we hope that you found our Round Table Forum stimulating and provocative.”

"... and no one can point an accusing finger at me and say that I ever took a dollar from any man for the furtherance of my political ambitions."

“Oh, for Heaven’s sake, Harold, the picture isn’t that bad!”

"Married. Happily."

"Brother, have the savings made possible by a low-overhead policy been passed on to you!"

"This must be the place."

"You and your damned Brooks Brothers shirt!"

"Three blocks down, podner."

“Which is the one that likes to start off his column with a little poem?”

"You're trying to forget one woman. I'm trying to forget an entire all-girl orchestra."

"My wife doesn't understand me, my secretary doesn't understand me, the union doesn't understand me, and my board of directors doesn't understand me."

"How do you like that! We're not first, after all!"

“Now please, Edward—no arguments. Try to keep on subjects like the mess in Washington, and things like that.”

"I say I do hear a funny noise. Why must you always stick up for the car?"

“Well, what should it be this time? Act hopeless and talk about losing my job and my home and all that, or just lose my temper and give them a tongue-lashing?”

“After telling them to get in there and mix it up, why does he keep pulling them apart?”

“He’s the intellectual type—if you know what I mean.”

“Did I understand you to say this is your autobiography?”

"Guess what, Harry! The cops busted in here today, turned the place upside down, and found your lost cuff link."

“Well, I’ll be damned!”

"Mr. Murtaugh made a pass at me today. Knock on wood."

“Fredericks, have you ever stopped to think why you can’t make ends meet on your present salary?”

“There he goes departing from the prepared text again.”

“Here’s the first return—from upstate. Two districts reporting out of a total of ten thousand three hundred and forty-eight. Seventy-two for Eisenhower, sixty-seven for Stevenson. Mr. Bayes, would you care to analyze the trend as you see it up to this point?”

"I'm sorry, sonny. We've run out of candy."

"I'm afraid you'll have to manage with what you have, dear. The zipper's jammed."

"Is there any time limit?"

“Well, does it pass the taste test?”

"You can go right in, Mr. Feeny."

“Probably a marriage of convenience.”

"How come you didn't have a tough day today?"

“And so, podners, don’t none of you fergit to tell Mom and Dad to git to the polls come next Tuesday and vote fer good ole Tom Wickersham, the ripsnortinest hombre in these here United States.”

“Why don’t we have three-day passes?”

"Please pardon me, but I represent the Eastern Burglar Alarm Company, and I just wanted to demonstrate how vulnerable you are."

DREAMS OF GLORY
He Played a Great Game

William Steig (11/8/1952)

Return to Main Menu ►

“Look out for him. He’s in a good mood.”

“Well, you certainly had me fooled! I could have sworn you were innocent.”

"I think I'll send my problem to Box 437, care of this station."

"Your daughter's terrific. I guess you know that, Mr. Dillon."

“Never mind.”

“But first a few words about Easy-Wrap turbans.”

“Apples! Apples! Always apples! How come you can’t get a slice of that big dough I’m always reading about?”

“Ask a foolish question and you get a foolish answer. He says they’re freezing the ball.”

“... and besides that, it shows the day of the month and the year.”

"Pardon me, but I thought you might like to know that from up here you stick out like a sore thumb."

“Your duties will be simple. Six or eight times a day I’ll introduce you as the elderly couple one of the cars formerly belonged to.”

“For the benefit of those of you who may have stepped out of the room, we repeat our commercial of a moment ago . . .”

"Gosh, Mr. Maxwell! With all those other girls on the boat, I never thought you'd give me a tumble."

“And another feature—in case relatives should drop in unexpectedly, this absolutely cannot be turned into a bed.”

"But, dear, we need rain!"

"Excuse me, I've got to change a subject."

“Looks like Old Tex has been out on the range too long.”

“Come to think of it, I’ve never seen him before, either.”

“Now maybe you’ll realize there are more important things than keeping your good side to the camera.”

"You forgot the eye of newt."

“Lamb chops a dollar twenty-seven! Why, I can remember when they were sixty-nine cents a pound!”

"That's the trouble with being a brainy crook. You've got to explain over and over to yourself how you could've been so stupid."

"You're all under arrest!"

"Not another word! You need one thousand dollars—that's all we want to know."

"I'll repeat that. To the first ten ladies who call Pennsylvania 6-9972, we will give absolutely free . . ."

"Whatever your idea is, Millbank, I'm against it."

“Hey Combs! Where the hell do you think you’re going?”

"But I am holier than thou."

“Don’t you think people are stupid to spend beautiful nights like this indoors, Miss Lamont?”

"Tell me, John, do you really believe your paintings will become valuable after you're dead?"

SMALL FRY
FOOTBALL (1 OF 7)

Razzle-dazzle

SMALL FRY
FOOTBALL (2 OF 7)

Never say die

SMALL FRY

FOOTBALL (3 OF 7)

Strategy

SMALL FRY
FOOTBALL (4 OF 7)

Making sure

SMALL FRY
FOOTBALL (5 OF 7)

"Where's the interference?"

SMALL FRY

FOOTBALL (6 OF 7)

Crybaby

SMALL FRY
FOOTBALL (7 OF 7)

“Pass! Pass!”

"How come they got all the surprise witnesses?"

Leslie Starke (11/29/1952)

Return to Main Menu ►

"I maintain that a successful marriage is based on mutual trust. Take my case, for instance. Right this minute my wife thinks that I'm working late at the office."

"But does it ever rain that hard?"

“Here’s our special de-luxe gift combination—one hundred per cent rag paper, clear-vision thumb index, genuine leather binding, and white-wall tires.”

“Boy, I’ll bet things are humming over at the ‘Mirror’!”

"That's just an expression, Mrs. Brown. I don't really want to take him home with me."

"I just can't take it any more, Nate! I'm pulling out."

“And when you knock him down, go to a neutral corner.”

“Well, then what do you want to be?”

"Is Bali still—er—Bali?"

"Visiting hours are over, gentlemen."

"It's on the fourth floor, but we don't call it the Thrift Corner any more."

"Thanks anyhow, Hilda, but that brassy blonde happened to be his sister."

"Sam!"

"I think he had the idea he was looking at costume jewelry."

“We try to keep our cleaning operations as inconspicuous as possible.”

DREAMS OF GLORY
Give Me That Gun

William Steig (12/13/1952)

Return to Main Menu ►

“How about ‘Deck the Hall with Boughs of Holly’?”

"I don't think it's fair to call people middle-aged just because they're not so young any more."

“Oh, goodness me! You’re not going to meet anyone at all!”

Charles Addams (12/13/1952)

Return to Main Menu ►

“Of course I still love you, Marie, but that doesn’t alter the fact that when my wife comes home she’ll want to find the place clean.”

“Good heavens, no! I just wanted to feel that I could.”

"Bust, thirty-eight. Waist, thirty-four. Hips, thirty-eight."

"I wish you'd save some of that ha-ha-ha and ho-ho-ho for me."

“And then there was Item 9. Remember? ‘Enter here and on line 1, Schedule D, page 2, Form 1040, the smallest of the following: the amount on line C, net income computed without regard to capital gains or losses . . .’”

"Come along, Peggy. He's not the tell-him-what-you-want kind!"

“What you really want is to marry the girl and settle down. But you can’t, because you’re a gorilla.”

"I guess I tried to outlast him too long."

"Is he rich! Well, we went to a drive-in movie in a taxi!"

"I've got group insurance, so don't pull any punches."

"I understand he didn't start selling until his later years."

"Look! I'm going to be a customer!"

“Our records show, Murchison, that you haven’t asked for a raise in the last two years. Just what is your little game?”

"Howard, what was the name of that horrible show we saw that you liked so much?"

“Hey, who swiped that twenty I made the plates from?”

"I'll be damned if I'll shake hands with him!"

"The little dears! They still believe in Santa Claus."

“By George, man! You’ve found yourself!”

"I just couldn't help it, Mildred. I opened my mouth, but nothing came out."

Perry Barlow (12/27/1952)

Return to Main Menu ►